

Iwona Wojtala, MA

English philologist, sworn translator, lecturer at the University of Silesia, tutor. She works at the Faculty of Humanities, English Study Program, and also teaches at the Doctoral School. She is a tutor of a student organization called Students' Business Centre.

Since the beginning of her career, she has been interested in teaching different varieties of specialized English. Her academic interests include:

- broadly understood economic and business subjects
- foreign trade
- politics and economy of Great Britain and the United States
- legal English in civil and criminal law, commercial company law and contracts
- translation issues - improving the skills of translators
- English for academic purposes

Privately, she loves travelling and listening to music, is interested in sports, especially volleyball, and enjoys books and films on legal topics.